A SCORE OF PERSONS PERISH IN TENEMENT FIRE

greatest show of bravery on the part of the firemen.

Other Thrilling Rescues. Heroes developed at this time. Lieutenant Bonner, son of the former fire chief, ascended the now red hot fire escape five times. Four times he came down with a woman or a child in his arms. The fifth time he was making for the street with an unconscious woman when his strength gave way. He staggered and would have fallen to death had not his comrade come to his assistance. As Bonner reached the fourth story window on one of his ascents and dragged a little girl from a window where she stood surrounded by flames, she pleaded with him to leave her on the escape and go in after her little brother, whom she had carried to the window, where he had fallen unconscious and was roasting, she said. Bonner jumped through the window it seemed to those below that he was going into a furnace. He found the little boy just inside the window and carried him out.

Fireman Hannigan repeated Bonner's feat on the third floor, rescuing Miss Fannie Ginsberg.

A woman, her night dress blazing, was seen to crawl out of a window and start down the fire escape from the top floor. The hot iron blistered her feet and burnt deep into her flesh, but she continued. The scaling ladders were run up close to the escape and a fireman had almost reached her when a belch of flames covered her like a wave and bore her down. She fell back and died in sight of the horror-stricken crowd.

Leaped After Her Child.

The position of those who had taken refuge in the rubbish and choked fire escapes became more and more desperate every minute. They feared to jump and they could not wait until the scaling ladders reached them so intense was the heat. Now and then one would jump to the ground with a scream. A baby was flung into the arms of a policeman below by its fear-crazed mother. Just as the policeman caught the child the mother dived to the ground. Her body struck the policeman on the head and he fell unconscious. The woman escaped injury by the fall, but she had been badly burned, the baby was unhurt.

Death was reaping a harvest on other fire-escapes on the building as well as at this time. At the rear two men and two women were seen on the escape.

Two women came first and every step they made was blocked by some can or box of rubbish, often too heavy for them to lift. The men would come to their assistance and hurl the obstacle into the yard. The quartet were descending slowly between the third and fourth floors when flames burst from the windows all about them. The flames darted up from the third floor windows, enveloped the two men and women and they fell and were roasted to death. Their bodies were got down by the firemen.

Through the smoke another figure was seen on the fire escape on the fifth floor. No one could tell whether it was a man or woman. The clothes were aflame. In a moment the victim sank on the escape and died.

On the top of the fire escape at the other side of the house lay three bodies. Mrs. Solomon and her two sons, Isaac and Jacob. They had been overcome there by the flames. Two members of the Solomon family were seen to be looking from the windows and then fall back in the burning building.

His Family All Gone.

The elder Solomon, the husband and father, was one of those rescued by Patrolman Dawn. When he reached the ground his whiskers had been burned off, and he wore nothing but underclothing. For more than one hour he had been wandering around in this condition searching for his family, when he came upon the bodies after they had been removed from the fire escape. As he recognized the charred bodies he broke into passionate weeping with agonized grief of "Mein kinder, Mein kinder." His experience was paralleled by dozens of others in the house. After the fire was under control the street was filled with half-dressed, weeping people seeking for their relatives, imploring the firemen and policemen to go into the burning building and rescue the loved ones whom they believed perishing there. Yet one man, whose family had been saved, bewailed the loss of some jewelry left in his apartment and begged a fireman to save it for him.

The desperate resourcefulness of some mother in her effort to save the lives of her children was shown when a bundle was sent to fall from a high

He is survived by a married brother, who works at Deering, Maine.

Mr. Lawrence was a whole-souled, good hearted man, and was much respected by his friends, of which he had a great number. He was a member of Joppa Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., Naomi Rebekah Lodge, No. 10, I. O. O. F., Rathbone Lodge, No. 30, K. of P., and Magnolia Temple, Rathbone Sisters.

window in the burning building and light gently upon a heap of snow. In the center of the bundle wrapped around by thick blankets and comforters was found a year-old boy who suffered not at all from his unusual experience. The fate of the mother is not known.

INCENDIARISM SUSPECTED BY CORONER.

More than forty persons were injured and few of the sleeping inmates escaped unhurt. Several of those who perished were roasted to death in plain view of thousands in the streets. Coroner Golden Krans announced after investigation that he had reason to believe the fire to be the work of an incendiary. Investigation will follow. The building was one of the usual crowded tenements and the disaster is the worst in the history of the east side.

"Duffy's Is a Wonderful Tonic for the Run-down System."

W. J. HALES.

Gentlemen—I am subject to severe attacks of bronchitis, coughs and colds, and have continually bronchial trouble in one form or another. My own family doctor, who is a very warm friend, always prescribes for me Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and it has done more for me than all the medicines I have ever used. I am a builder and my business takes me out in all kinds of weather, and it is well nigh impossible for me to avoid exposure. I am frank in telling you that I do not think I could attend to my business, and I wonder whether I would be living or not, were it not for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Your medicine is a wonderful tonic; it prevents colds and other disorders, and braces up and nourishes the weak, tired, overworked and run-down system. W. J. HALES, Houston, Tex.

CAUTION.—When you ask for Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey be sure you get the genuine. Unscrupulous dealers, mindful of the excellence of this preparation, will try to sell you cheap imitations and so-called Malt Whiskey substitutes which are put on the market for profit only, and which, far from relieving the sick, are positively harmful. Demand "Duffy's," and be sure you get it. It is the only absolutely pure malt whiskey which contains medicinal, health-giving qualities. Look for the trade-mark, "The Old Chemist," on the label.

The genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold by all druggists and grocers, or direct at $1.00 a bottle. Write for free medical booklet containing symptoms and treatment of each disease to the Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

$100,000 Through Pinkertons

AMUSEMENTS.

LAST NIGHT'S PLAY.

Notwithstanding the fact that Tuesday is a "bad financial day" with the theatrical profession, a large crowd turned out last night to see "A Tru Kentuckian," by the Harris-Parkinson Theatre Company, at the opera house. Those who did witness last night's play were more than pleased with it. The success was even greater than the night before, and that is saying a great deal. Mr. Harris, the leading man, has a happy faculty of exciting his audience almost to fever heat, and every time he appears on the stage or utters a few words the applause is deafening. He is not only a talented actor and hard-worker, but he is always careful not to overdo—a mistake which is by far too common with even some of the world's greatest actors. Another remarkable feature of this company is the class of their plays. They are all high-class and new pieces, which are put on with the same score that is taken in one-night stands.

"A true Kentuckian" was one of the best repertoire plays ever seen here and the specialties were also among the best that it has been the good fortune of Pensacolians to see this season.

To-night the company will present one of its strongest bills.

DR. PILCHER'S ORGAN RECITAL.

The artists of Pensacola are looking forward to the advent of Dr. Pilcher's free organ recital which is scheduled to take place at the First Baptist Church next Thursday, and those who are not familiar with Dr. Pilcher's record and standing in musical circles may get some idea from the following:

"In heartfelt and grateful remembrance of his kindness, attention, valuable instruction and inestimable aid during my never to be forgotten, delightful study of Mireille, Faust, Trovatore and Romeo and Juliette. The work on these operas, especially Mireille, for which Dr. Pilcher wrote for me all the cadenzas, took on the form of recreation under the sympathetic and soulful understanding and treatment of the different subjects presented to me through his genius."

The Litigation Over This Ancient Horse Case Not Worth the Trouble.

Windfall, Ind., March 14.—After being out 6 hours, a jury in the supreme court awarded Adam Repp $1 in a horse case that has been in the courts for two years—and the end is not yet. Repp bought the horse from Wilber C. Legg for $81, and three days later it died. He sued for the purchase amount, lost the case, and appealed, the result being a disagreement of the jury. Another trial resulted in another disagreement. A change of venue was taken, and he is now awarded $1. Each trial lasted several days, there were more than 100 witnesses and the costs amount now to $1,500. Legg will carry the case to the supreme court.
